What does this all mean?

- Everyone has a DOJO monster, and they start on Green every day! Every day is a new day! 'Diwrnod Da!'
- Sometimes your child might make a mistake and not follow the Westwood STAR Rules and their teacher might say that they need some 'Thinking Time,' and move their DOJO Monster on to Blue. 'Amser Meddwl.' What can your child do if that happens? Use the Class Regulation Station, talk to their class teacher or repair their wrong choice.
- If they carry on making the wrong choices and they are not following the Westwood STAR Rules because they are not able to regulate, they will be moved on to Yellow. 'Cerdyn Melyn.' This is when they will have 'time in,' with their teacher to discuss their behaviour and they will be supported to reflect on how they can make better choices, through a restorative conversation.
- If they are still unable to make better choices, they might be moved to Red. 'Cerdyn Coch.' They may also be given a Cerdyn Coch if

Moved to Amser Meddwl...

Think about their feelings! Your child should use the Regulation station to help them regulate and feel calmer. This will help them make better choices.

Time in to talk to their teacher or preferred adult, when they feel ready.

This is their opportunity to turn things around and move back to Green – Diwrnod Da!

'Time in' with their class teacher to discuss their behaviour. This might mean that they miss a play time, depending on when this conversation takes place.

Their teacher will talk to their parents about their behaviour.

They will miss their daily Treat Time.

They will be spoken to by Mrs Jones.

Once they are calm, they will be supported to reflect on their behaviour.

Your child will miss their daily Treat Time

If Mrs. Jones is not here, Mrs Brown or Mrs Donaghy will speak with your child.

Parents will be rung. Depending on the severity of your child's behaviour, it may result in an exclusion.
